COURSE DESCRIPTION:
This course will expose students to topics and concepts in the emerging field of social entrepreneurship. While the phenomenon of social entrepreneurship is not new, language used to describe social entrepreneurship is changing as new organizational opportunities and business forms emerge to address pressing societal problems. For this class, “social entrepreneurship” will encompass the importance of a socially-engaged businesses but also entrepreneurial approaches in the nonprofit sector that increase its effectiveness. This course combines elements of: social science, business and management theory; knowledge from practice; and features of private and public entities. Many forces are shaping the opportunities in this area: increasing numbers of nonprofit organizations competing for financial resources in turbulent economic times, an unprecedented transfer of wealth from baby boomers to their children and charities, the emergence of hybrid business models to serve social ends, and new tools for measuring social impact and change. The social sector is evolving from “pure” philanthropy and traditional charitable work to include organizations that can deliver both social and economic value in a sustainable way.

Students will develop an awareness of key issues in social entrepreneurship and ability to:
1. Identify social entrepreneurial concepts, organizations and tools
2. Develop mission statements
3. Analyze resources for social entrepreneurs, especially for new nonprofit organizations
4. Quantify social impact and calculate key financial ratios used in philanthropy
5. Research donor prospects
6. Conduct a fundraising call

Your class activities will include:
• Case studies: Examples of real-life challenges, opportunities or risks faced by social entrepreneurs with study questions and class discussion
• Guest speakers: Students will learn from leading practitioners; there may be changes to the class dates in order to accommodate speakers’ schedules
• Lectures
• Role-playing and group activities

Your assignments will include written responses to case questions (one page each) (See Assignments in the “Approximate Class Schedule” at end of Syllabus). There is no final exam.

ASSIGNMENTS:
The course will include written responses to cases throughout the course (1 page each).

Written assignments are due by the beginning of class to the instructor.

GRADING:
Students will be assessed on:

1. Participation in class (60%) – attendance (1 point) and contribution to discussion (1 point for participation, 1 point for high-quality contributions)
2. Case write-ups (40%) and note cards

There is NO final exam.

Participation (60%). Attendance will be taken (1 point for each session). Students are expected to be active participants throughout the entire course and to contribute to the quality of discussion. Class participation (1 point) is a major component of the final grade. A student may be asked to start class by addressing a specific reading, case study or featured speaker. Students should be able to provide a summary and analysis of the topic for a few minutes before discussion is opened to the class. Quality
MHR 365 – Social Entrepreneurship
3-25-11 @ 9:15 AM

Contributions to discussion (1 point) will include:

1. Is the comment relevant to the discussion? (Relevancy)
2. Does the student support comments with evidence from the class materials? (Evidence)
3. Does the comment broaden discussion by introducing implications? (Implications)

In-class exercises and group skill-building sessions make your attendance at class particularly important.

Write-ups (40%). Case write-ups (worth 3 points each) will be graded based on:

1. You answer the basic question(s). (1 point)
2. You show a command of the material by citing evidence (author, page #) from the readings (e.g., “…donor lapse rates are high (Brooks, p. 133)” to support your reasoning or recommendations (1 point)
3. You introduce implications of your recommendations in two or three sentences (1 point)

If you do not turn in a case write-up, you will receive 0 points for that assignment. Note cards with questions or your information are worth 1 point each.

CONFIDENTIALITY POLICY:

Required of all UW-Madison Entrepreneurship students in MHR courses.

Throughout the classes and events, students will be exposed to proprietary information from other students, guest lecturers and faculty.
